1. First of all it is just the tentative version, changes could take place, it is possible that we would cancel something, and then add something to replace it.
2. students will be placed into different language classes, so they would have different schedules of their language courses, however, from the past program's experiences, in most afternoons, most students won't have many classes, so we tend to arrange group activities in the afternoons.
3. For almost all the group activities, the ZJU student volunteers would also take part in. And apart from all these activities, the Japanese students and the ZJU students would also be encouraged to make plans and organize even more activities.
4. The actual time and hours are subject to changes. After all, the class schedule of next semester have not been made yet.
