ACADEMIC CALENDARS

KEY THINGS TO KNOW: ARRIVAL & DEPARTURE

All inbound students are expected to attend classes from the first day of the semester. You are strongly encouraged to arrive early in the week before classes begin, which will give you time to settle in, adjust to campus life, and take part in Welcome Week activities organised for inbound students. The inbound team will share more detailed guidance on the recommended arrival date closer to the start of the semester. Arriving after the semester has begun is strongly discouraged.

Course changes are not permitted after the add/drop period (Teaching Weeks 1 and 2) under any circumstances, and remote learning options are not available.

If you are unable to arrive by the recommended time, please contact OGEM promptly with valid reasons so that we can advise you accordingly.

When planning your return travel, please ensure that your flight is scheduled after the official end of the semester, as examinations may be held on the final day. Examination dates cannot be rescheduled. Students who miss an exam without valid supporting documentation will be deemed to have failed the course, and an “F” grade will be reflected on the transcript.

ACADEMIC UNITS AND GRADING SYSTEM

NTU's courses are assigned credits based on academic units. Most courses offered in NTU are worth three to four AUs.

The AU is a measure of the student's workload associated with both class attendance and preparation. For a typical one-semester course, the number of AU is calculated as follows:

- 1 hour of lecture/tutorial per week : 1 AU
- 3 hours laboratory/fieldwork per week : 1 AU

NTU uses the Grade Point Average (GPA) system in awarding grades. The Pass/Fail option is not applicable to exchange students.

ACADEMIC STRUCTURE

OFFICIAL TRANSCRIPTS

Official NTU transcripts will be made available to your home university's exchange office within two months of completing the exchange programme. There is no need to request these transcripts.

WITHDRAWING FROM THE PROGRAMME

Before arriving at NTU

You must inform your home university in writing of your decision to withdraw, with NTU's Office of Global Education and Mobility (OGEM) in copy.

After arriving at NTU

You must inform your home university in writing of your decision to withdraw, with NTU's Office of Global Education and Mobility (OGEM) in copy, before firming up your departure travel plans.

Withdrawals requested after arriving at NTU will be counted as a utilised exchange spot.

Academically, NTU offered a very high standard of teaching, with engaging courses and classes that combined theory with real-world applications, making the learning experience both challenging and rewarding. Campus life was equally impressive: the vibrant hall community and student activities made it easy to connect with people from all over the world and feel part of a dynamic international environment.

- Federico Tuti, from Technical University of Denmark (AY25/26 Semester 1 exchange student)

COURSE MATTERS

In your application, you will be asked to list 10 courses for each applicable semester. Ensure that these courses are approved by your home university and are integral to your academic progression.

UG course offerings will only be published in May and November (for Semester 1 and 2, respectively). The previous year's courses offered may be as a reference.

A limited selection of PG courses is available for exchange students. Postgraduate and Direct Masters students may only select PG courses from the given list, to be published in March and September (for Semester 1 and 2, respectively).

🔗 COURSE SELECTION

RESTRICTED COURSES/PROGRAMMES

Exchange students are strictly not allowed to apply for/read restricted courses and programmes. Students should not appeal for such courses.

🔗 RESTRICTED COURSES

CREDIT TRANSFER

You are responsible for ensuring that the NTU courses you select are eligible for credit transfer at your home university. Detailed course syllabi are available on the NTU website via a simple web search. If you have difficulty finding the necessary information, please contact the Office of Global Education and Mobility (OGEM) for assistance.

COURSE APPROVAL AND ALLOCATION

The courses listed in your application will be evaluated by the offering School(s) based on the academic documents submitted, and courses deemed suitable will be approved. In addition to your initial course choices, you will have two further opportunities to request approval for additional courses.

NTU will endeavour to allocate up to four approved courses prior to your arrival, subject to vacancies and timetabling. You may make changes to your registered courses by adding or dropping courses during the add/drop period (self-registration phase).

Detailed information regarding the course registration process will be provided upon acceptance of the exchange offer.

KEY THINGS TO KNOW: COURSE ENROLMENT

Some courses at NTU are highly popular, and places can be competitive across all schools. To maximise your chances of securing a suitable course load, it is important to remain flexible in your course choices.

Course registration is an ongoing process that continues until Teaching Week 2 of the semester. Even if you have not secured enough approved or registered courses before arriving at NTU, you will still be able to review and adjust your course plan during the add/drop period in Teaching Weeks 1 and 2 after your arrival.

Please note that course approval does not guarantee enrolment. Final enrolment is subject to the availability of vacancies as well as class and examination timetable considerations, and takes place through a separate registration exercise at a later stage.

Due to capacity constraints, courses offered by NTU's College of Computing and Data Science (CCDS) are temporarily unavailable to exchange students until further notice. However, students from partner universities with pre-arranged access to CCDS courses may still be allowed to read these courses, subject to availability and NTU's approval. Depending on your academic requirements, suitable alternatives may be found among the offerings of NTU's other five Engineering Schools ↗.
