If the cumulative Grade Coefficient,

・For undergraduate students in their first semester of the first year, grades will be calculated based on their third-year high school academic records.

・For students who were on a leave of absence for the entire previous academic year, grades will be calculated based on academic performance from two years prior. For students who were on a leave of absence during the latter half of the previous academic year, grades will be calculated based on academic performance from the first half of that year.

------- [An example of calculating method of grading coefficient] (Automatically calculated on UTAS*) ----------
*The grading coefficient is determined based on the most up-to-date academic record used at the time of internal selection after submission via UTAS. Accordingly, it may differ from the grades confirmed by students at the time of application.

Convert to grading point by the following table and apply them to the formula (round off to two decimal places).

Grading Coefficient Conversion Table

	GRADE
4-level rating	—	Excellent	Good	Average	Fail
4-level rating	—	A	B	C	F
4-level rating	—	100-80	79-70	69-60	59 or less
5-level rating	100-90	89-80	79-70	69-60	59 or less
5-level rating	S	A	B	C	F
5-level rating	A	B	C	D	F
5-level rating	5	4	3	2	1
GARDE POINT (GP)	3	3	2	1	0

Grading Coefficient Formula:

*No. =Number

*GP=Grade Point

<Note> If you have taken courses that are not part of the credit system, or you are calculating with grades from your final year of high school, replace “Credits” in the Grading Coefficient Formula with “Number of Courses/Subjects”.

(7) Students whose total amount of scholarships (not including travel expenses, etc., or scholarship loan and student loan which require repayment) to attend this study abroad program from other sources (including UTokyo and host institutions, etc.), do not exceed the monthly amounts of this scholarship will be eligible for the scholarship.

Note 1: “Scholarships to attend this study abroad program from other sources” (Other scholarships) means ones which students receive directly. If students have raised funding for their study abroad program, including cloud funding, the said funding is regarded as a part of “other scholarships”. In case that housing fee, program participation fee, etc., which are funded by the home university, etc., are not regarded as a part of “other scholarships”.

Note 2: If other scholarships are not monthly basis, please calculate and confirm the monthly stipend.

Note 3: If other scholarships include travel expenses, including airfare, please exclude the travel expenses and calculate the monthly stipend to confirm that the amount does not exceed the monthly stipend from JASSO scholarships.

Note 4: Income from remunerated training, internships, part-time work, etc. may be combined with the scholarship under this program, regardless of the amount, if the university determines that it will not interfere with the achievement of the program's objectives and goals and the student's academic studies (research).

Note 5: If you are receiving scholarships from other organizations, please make sure with the organization that you are permitted to receive additional scholarships from other sources.

Note 6: Scholarships which students receive regardless of the study abroad program are generally not considered to be “other scholarships” (except for a few). Therefore, it is possible to receive multiple scholarships, but some scholarship organizations may not allow combined awards. It is important to check with the relevant organization and the department in charge of domestic scholarships (* 1) to confirm.

Note 7: In addition to the above, please note that there may be cases in which scholarships received from other organizations, etc. may not be approved in conjunction with the program specific scholarship, depending on the source of funding and nature of the scholarship.
